mood?

Free, fast and confidential psychological support

Keeping Well is a free confidential wellbeing and psychological support service run by care professionals for key workers, in Bedfordshire, Luton and Milton Keynes.

The Covid-19 pandemic has brought considerable challenges and stresses to key workers.

Working longer hours in hospitals, community and care homes, seeing friends and colleagues become unwell, being redeployed or asked to work in unfamiliar areas may have impacted your stress, anxiety or mood.

You may have worries about your own or your family's health and safety. You might be exhausted from juggling the pressures of home life and childcare, social isolation and the uncertainty that this period brings to all our lives.

The Keeping Well service is here to provide wellbeing and psychological support to:

- Anyone employed by the NHS in acute, community and mental health trusts and the Clinical Commissioning Group as well as Local Authority staff including social care and public health staff
- Anyone sub-contracted to do NHS work
- Primary care staff and dental staff
- Staff working in nursing homes and care homes (regardless of which organisation employs you)
- Carers who visit people in their own homes
- Carers who are paid via personal health budgets
- Those working in emergency services (such as the Police, Ambulance Service and Fire Brigade)
- Teachers

Appointments are flexible to work around shift patterns

Symptoms

Emotional difficulties are a normal response to a crisis.

Keeping Well aims to provide the help and support needed to get you feeling emotionally resilient and well again, whether you are experiencing new mental health symptoms or a worsening of pre-existing difficulties.

Signs and symptoms to look out for:

- Feeling down, depressed or hopeless
- Trouble with sleep or sleeping too much
- Little interest or pleasure in doing things
- Changes to your appetite
- Feeling tired or having little energy
- Trouble concentrating
- Feeling nervous, anxious or on edge
- Worrying too much about different things
- Trouble relaxing
- Becoming easily annoyed or irritable

Treatments

Keeping Well provides access to confidential psychological assessment and evidence based treatments. All our interventions are offered by trained NHS professionals with a wealth of experience of working with common mental health problems.

Our treatments will be tailored to your needs following a comprehensive assessment.
