Primary Care Leadership Collaboratives

Call for applications for our 5th cohort - closing date 9th September 2019

Be part of this exciting development opportunity, enabling people from across different professions within Primary Care in the East of England to enhance their leadership and improvement skills.

Are you passionate about improving the quality of care, service transformation and innovation across the wider system?

Are you already working and leading collaboratively across professions, organisations and networks to ensure better outcomes for patients?

What are Primary Care Leadership Collaboratives?

Primary Care Leadership Collaboratives (PCLC) are designed to support local teams and Primary Care Networks (PCNs) in developing leadership capabilities in each of the east of England Integrated Care Systems and Sustainability and Transformation Partnerships \(see map\).

Collaborative

We are seeking to support up to twelve collaboratives of between 3 to 5 participants in each collaborative; likely to be a practice manager, practice nurse and GP/GDP but potentially including other senior colleagues in practices, developing Primary Care Networks, and other local organisations. Individual practices or PCNs can form their own collaborative to attend and could use the programme to develop any quality improvement initiatives within their organisation and network. We anticipate each collaborative will already be working together to improve health and health outcomes for communities. Our goal is to enable improvement, integration and innovation across ICS/STPs through the collaborative, sharing a common purpose and vision of primary care and future outcomes for communities.
